News from Yuma state that Pat Hafford has been unanimously chosen chief of the Yuma Indians, and to-morrow he will prove himself by shooting apples off the twelve Indian maidens. It is at there will be no mistakes pulling the strings this time.

Duna and party who have been visiting for the past few weeks in Miller's canyon, Huachuca mountains, returned this afternoon. They had their wagons and carryalls gaily decorated with evergreens and flowers, and created quite a sensation upon their arrival.

Important to Ranchers.

Word was received this morning, that a telegram had been received at Fort Huachuca from Gen. Miles, to signal to Antelope Springs, the Swiss helms, and Stein's Peak, that the hostile Apaches were returning to Arizona, and ordering every water hole carefully guarded, and ordering couriers to notify the settlers. The General from what he has learned, believes that the hostiles are heading for the Dragoons, where he thinks they intend to make a stand. That they have already reached the Sulphur Spring valley will readily be believed when we state that Mr. Davis, a well known rancher, arrived in this city last evening and stated that he came across four dead beavers yesterday, that had only been killed a few hours, and numerous Indian signs. It would be well for cattlemen and ranchers to keep a close lookout for hostiles during the next few days.

Nevada in His Trousers' Pocket
"Know Geo. Hearst? Well I should say I did," remarked the old Nevada at the Palace the other evening. "For the last few years I never hear Uncle George's name mentioned without recalling a little incident that happened to him and me years ago in Pioche."

"Uncle George and I had been on a prospecting tour all summer. We had been unfortunate, not finding or making any locations. We brought up at Pioche in the face of a hard winter, out of provisions and out of money. Hearst went to the leading merchant of the camp and asked a few dollars' credit to purchase the necessities of life. The merchant refused."

"Well," drawled the now millionaire Senator, "I shall live to see the time when I can put the whole borough of Nevada in my trousers' pocket."

"Since Uncle George has become U. S. Senator I am expecting him every day to introduce a bill abolishing the state of Nevada.—S. F. Post.

Orange Blossoms.

Last evening at the residence of the bride parents on Allen street, Mr. Theo Negri was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Miss Teriasta Fry, by Judge Street. Both of the young people are well known in Tombstone, and have hosts of friends. After the ceremonies which were attended by a large number of the friends of both the high contracting parties, an elegant wedding supper was spread, and amid the flow of wit and the popping of corks the health of the happy couple was drank time and time again.

THE TOMBSTONE acknowledges the receipt of a liberal supply of refreshments, and we also extend our congratulations to the bride and groom and hope that their matrimonial bark will never strike upon the reefs of adversity, and that their only troubles may be little ones.

COUNTY RECORDS.

The following instruments were filed in the office of the County Recorder to-day:

DEEDS—MINES.

W. P. Davis to James Carr, the Texas mine and millsite, situated on the west side of the Huachuca mountains about one mile north of the Maloney ranch, $1.

Jacob Conner to James Carr, the Maloney millsite, situate on the west side of the Huachuca mountains, $1.

Mr. Davis a rancher in the West Huachuca arrived in this city last evening.

A large number of business houses in town decorated the fronts of their buildings to-day with the stars and stripes. The Daily Tombstone was among the number.

Mr. W. F. Bradley and wife accompanied by Mrs. Chas. Tribolet, will leave to-morrow or Monday, for San Francisco, where they go to witness the celebration of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Silver City and Tombstone each claim to be the dirtiest town in either territory, in respect to the condition of their streets. The honor is not there and falls nearer the line between New Mexico and Arizona. Clifton not only claims this proud distinction, but can substantiate the same.—Clarion.

RAZED TO THE GROUND

Two Thirds of the Boss Copper Camp-Bisbee-in Ashes.

A full Account of the Property Destroyed, and who are the Losers.

A little more than a year ago a courier arrived in this city with the distressing news that Bisbee was in ashes. The report could hardly be believed, while at the same time it was expected. But with that indomitable will of frontiers people the town was soon rebuilt, in much better shape than before, and the whole world had begun to believe that Bisbee with her vast resources was destined to become one of the chief mining camps of Arizona, and when the stage arrived in this city last evening with the intelligence that Bisbee had again been undergoing the fiery ideal, many were the expressions and curses upon the heads of Rollins, Fickas, and Joice et al, who were the authors of the name Cochise being bestowed upon this county, as the idea is prevalent that its many numerous misfortunes have been caused by a visitation from Providence in naming it after one of the most bloodthirsty Indians that ever lived in the annals of history. Below we give the names of the parties who were burned out and their losses, which were kindly furnished us by a business man of this town who was one of the sufferers of the Bisbee fire.

Yesterday morning, at 6:15, the sharp cry of "fire!" rang through the air. It was the warning notes that the town of Bisbee was visited again by that fierce element of destruction. When first discovered, the flames burst through the roof of Mrs. Christy's restaurant and lodging house, and before the people could realize the danger, the fire gained such headway that it was impossible to think of saving the buildings. From Mrs. Christy's the fire spread with lightning-like rapidity. Soon Clark & Dunn's saloon, on the one side and the Lumber Yard on the other, were ablaze. At this time some of the people were in bed and had barely time to escape with their lives.

One of the boarders at Mrs. Christy's by the name of John Smith had the hair burnt off his head and had to jump from the balcony of the second story to save his life.

The south side of the street it is laid in ashes from Sol Piorce's saloon to the Copper Queen works; on the north side from McGuire's restaurant to the Copper Queen store. Fortunately for those from there up on Main street the wind was steadily blowing from the west, or the destroying element would have waste and gone over the same ground it did at the last fire.

H. Purcell & Co., Bon Tom building, $1,200; Mrs. Dohoney, $300; Clark and Higgins, saloon building, $1,200; Clark and Dunn, saloon, $2,000; Mrs. Christy, building and all contents, $4,000, partially insured; L. W. Blinn Lumber Co., $2,500; Copper Queen store-room, formerly owned by M. Crosey, and surveyor's office with contents, $1,500; Kate Sweeney, building and great portion of goods, $2,000, partially insured; Store house owned by Ben Williams, $500; clothing store of J. Myers & Bros., $2,500; Dr. J. G. Rayney, drug store and dwelling, lost almost everything, $3,000, no insurance; Chris. Radovich, house, $1,000; Mrs. Kelly, restaurant, $500; Erie Cattle Co., meat market, $1,200; Fred Dutton, shoemaker shop, $350; James Mendenhall, Bisbee house, $4,000, partially insured; John Curtis, $700.

It will be seen that the largest portion of the losers by this fire were losers at the one about a year ago, and they will hardly be able to rebuild again and resume business. We expect to receive a full account of all losses and incidents that we have not already published by this evening's mail, and will publish the same in our next issue.

Mr. W. Hasselgren who has a ranch on the San Pedro below Charleston, was a visitor to this city to-day.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, June 28, 1886.

Mr. EDITOR.—The latest feature of Washington life is the adoption of the tricycle by ladies. The broad smooth pavements of the city render traveling by bicycle or tricycle both a convenience and a luxury. The use of these machines has long been popular for news gathering purposes, and a number of "wheels" may be seen, at any hour of the day or night, about the doors of the various newspaper offices. The telegraph companies were early in recognizing the advantage of the system from a business standpoint, and furnished their messengers with bicycles. The fact that the appearance of a lady upon a tricycle would be likely to attract notice, and cause more or less comment, has until recently prevented their general adoption by the ladies. A number of tricycle clubs have, however, been formed among the ladies during the past few months, and during the course of a walk through the streets upon a moonlight evening, one constantly meets these tricycle riders. The popularity of the tricycle is in fact increasing daily, and if one may judge from the enthusiasm evinced by the ladies who are members of the clubs, it is safe to predict that the "machine" will soon achieve an even greater popularity among the ladies than it has heretofore with the gentlemen.

It is rumored that a large number of dismissals are to be made in the various Executive Departments upon July 1st, the commencement of the fiscal year. The Sixth Auditor has announced the dismissal of twenty-six clerks from his office, it being stated that the dismissals were made necessary by an expectation that the appropriations were to be reduced. An examination of the provisions of the legislative bill as it passed the House, shows that the Sixth Auditor is given all the force asked for, and that the total reduction necessary in all grades does not exceed six or eight.

The President has been so busily engaged during the week, considering the great number of bills which await his signature, that he has been obliged to deny himself to callers, and the regular meeting of the Cabinet upon Thursday was postponed upon that account. On Wednesday he sent fifteen veto messages to Congress, and on Thursday a batch of thirty-two bills were returned to the House with his reasons for disapproval. The effects of overwork began to show themselves before the close of the week, and after continued urging by his friends the President finally decided to accept an invitation, which had been tendered to him by Representative Scott, of Pennsylvania, to join in a pleasant cruise down the river. The party, consisting of the President, Postmaster General Vilas, Representative Scott, Mr. W. S. Bissell and Lamont, left Washington on Friday afternoon upon Mr. Scott's steam yacht for a short cruise down the bay.

It having been learned at the Postoffice Department that certain clerks in the railway mail service had formed a conspiracy to prevent removals, an order was issued on Thursday by the Postoffice Department summarily dismissing twenty-six from the service. The order states that the clerks have been removed "for insubordination, in conspiring to obstruct the regulation of the service of the Department. They have secretly attempted to form an association with a view to dictate action to the Department." * * * The object of the society was to resist removals by threatening a strike, or the combined resignations of many clerks at one time, so as to menace the Department with embarrassment.

There are nearly forty members of the Chinese Legation in Washington, and their summer robes of light blue silk, present an attractive appearance upon the streets. Although there are but two or three members of the Legation who understand a word of English, they all evince a remarkable devotion to our American entertainments, and the theater seems to be particularly attractive to them. The summer opera season has opened, and the Chinese are to be found at the opera every night. They never tire of the same performance, and no matter how often the opera is given they are always present, and their faces are always radiant with an expression indicating thorough enjoyment.

Gala time at the races to-morrow. Don't forget the grand opening at the Fashion saloon to-night.

Cordials, syrups, wine, whiskies and cigars at L. B. Van Burt's liquor warehouses on Allen street.

Col. Fred Hafford an old timer in camp, who has been away from Tombstone for the past year returned last evening. The Colonel has many warm friends in Tombstone who are glad to see him back.

As the employees of the THE TOMBSTONE desire to be patriotic on the Fourth of July and that falling on Sunday this year, making Monday a legal holiday, there will be no paper issued from this office on Monday evening.

If the Apaches should see the balloon of Joe Bignon's sailing over the country to-morrow evening they will be almost sure to surrender, thinking that General Miles has invented some infernal machine for their extinction.

"A WISE man never stops to argue with a skunk. The skunk has to great an advantage in its own peculiar line"—Epitaph. We know that you smell awful loud Dunbar, but we thought that it was the scent of the horse stables that hung round you still.

Just received by Mr. Van Burt a choice lot of fine imported cigars. Van is the boss. Saloon men should call at his store on Allen street and inspect his goods. Everything that can be found in a first class wholesale liquor store can be had at prices that would astonish one.

Judge Benson is the only resident of Toughnut street so far that is loyal enough to display the American flag, he having seven American flags flying in front of his domicile. We expect, however, that to-morrow morning's dawn will lead to the gaze of the public, flags on each and every house from one of that thoroughfare to the other.

It is said that the reason that Pat Holland accepted the honor thrust upon him by the Yuma Indians, was because the weather is so warm in Yuma that he was unable as a pale face, without becoming amenable to the law, to wear a Gee string, but as chief of the Yuma's all trouble of the law is averted. He will now dress in the ancient and scanty costume of his tribe.

The Democrat came out with an article headed to-day "Important if True," wherein it was stated that an important change was to take place in the management of the Grand Central mine and that Messrs. Gage and Leach would retire. A reporter of THE TOMBSTONE interviewed Mr. Leach and from that gentleman nothing could be gleaned other than that it was news to him as he knew nothing about it. It is to be hoped that Messrs. Gage and Leach will still continue to hold their positions.

We received a pleasant call this afternoon from our old friend Col. Hafford. He looks just as natural as ever, and by the time he reached our office his arm was weary with handshaking from his numerous friends in this city. The Colonel will remain in this city about a week or ten days and take a look at the general outlook for the camp. He says that notwithstanding the dullness of the camp at present it presents superior inducements to the capitalist or business man than any place he has visited during his travels.
